THE CULTURE OF THE DAHLIA

Success Will Follow If You Observe These Instructions

PLANTING. Plant roots in hills or drills, laying flat down, 6 inches deep. Do not stand the root on end. If you stand the root on end, having the sprout end near the top of the ground, all the new roots which will form will grow near the top of the ground and when you have a dry spell your plant becomes stunted, whereas, if the roots were planted flat down 6 inches deep, no matter how dry the season, the roots would receive sufficient moisture to keep them growing. If planting with manure, cover manure an inch or so before planting roots; fertilizer should be thoroughly worked into the soil. Either fertilizer or manure will burn the sprout; be sure to cover with soil.

By planting the root first, then covering an inch or so with soil and applying your fertilizer or manure, your plant receives the entire benefit of the dressing. The dressing is above the root and every rain carries the food down to the roots, whereas, if your dressing is below the root, each rain takes your dressing further away from your plant.

CULTIVATION. Cultivation is the principal requirement of the Dahlia—the most important of all operations to insure success. Keep the soil well cultivated and free from weeds; never allow the soil to crust.

Be sure your friends get all my catalogs, as I guarantee all my stock to grow true to name, or stock is cheerfully replaced free of all expense.

I have been in the Dahlia and Plant growing business for over 50 years and at one time had over 40,000 customers and have shipped bulbs all over the world.

I shall only issue a Spring catalog on account of hard times, so send all orders from this circular.

GLADIOLI

The Gladioli are without an equal either for bedding or borders.

As a cut flower they are far superior to any other Summer bloomer, either for lasting qualities or for the various uses for which they can be excellently and artistically employed. If planted by the last of May, they will bloom by the first to the middle of August, if cared for properly.

THE WAY TO PLANT Gladioli—Dig the row or bed from eight to ten inches deep, then spread a liberal amount of good fertilizer in the bottom of the row or bed, then rake it in thoroughly before planting your bulbs from four to six inches deep.
